BELGIUM

Peace treaty between Belgium and the five major powers regarding the creation and recognition of Belgium, signed in London the 15th of November 1831
TO CONSULT THE ARCHIVES

• All researchers must apply in writing (by post, fax., E.mail) stating the subject, the period and the scientific aim of the research.

• On this basis the scientific and technical staff of the service could narrow down the search and give further assistance in the reading room.

How to enrol?
At the first consultation of the files in the archive all researchers are asked to fill in an enrollment form mentioning the private address, telephone number and their academic qualifications.

At the same time they sign an agreement to abide by the rules of procedures governing the consultations as a whole.

WORKING IN THE READING ROOM

• The researchers are responsible for maintaining the good condition of the documents while consulting them.

• All violations of rules of procedure will result in refusal of all further requests for consultations.

• Researchers are permitted to carry into the room either material to take down handwritten notes or a portable P.C. All other personal effects are deposited at the cloak room of the service.

• Work in the room is controlled by a closed circuit TV.

• All information of a scientific or/and practical nature could be obtained from the personnel, who are always available to this end.

RECEPTION OF OUR VISITORS

Opening hours
The reading room is open from Monday to Friday from 9am to 6pm
Between noon and 2pm, a person on duty guarantees entry and exit of the visitors working in the reading room.

Days closed
• Between Christmas and New Year.
• Other possible closing days are always announced in advance.

SERVICES OFFERED...

Photocopies are provided by the staff of the service, on the basis of an application and authorization form duly completed by the researcher.
